Dear Judge Lewis Liman

I hope this letter finds you well. I am proud to be the daughter of Neil Muarry Phillips. I just wanted to tell you a little bit about my amazing supporting loving father.

My dad is a man of many talents he is an inspiring role model to all.

Last year 28 August 2022 my life crumbled my dad who was on holiday with [REDACTED] who was [REDACTED] and his year long girlfriend [REDACTED] because I live in South Africa with my mother Illyce Phillips. But after a lovely holiday for 5 days in Ibiza my dad, his girlfriend and my brother were boarding a plane back to London. My sister stayed in Ibiza with her friend. As my dad was boarding the plane he was encountered by a group of police who told my dad to come with them baring in mind this is all in front of my brother. They would tell my dad what for or what was happening there he went all of us his family worried about him. I found out from my brother messaging me "HELP DADDY WAS TAKEN BY THE POLICE" I was speechless me and my family had no way of getting my dad.

Me and My dad are best friends i look up to him in every way possible i normally speak to him about 3 times a day and not to speak to him for 5 days was my worst nightmare coming true me and my siblings were separated as i am finishing my matric in South Africa and they were living in London. My dad was allowed to make one phone call But was only allowed to be a Spanish number and my family and i either have British or South African phone numbers which made things 100 times worse. We did not know why my dad was arrested or what it was for. Then the next morning i woke up to my phone overblowing with texts saying [REDACTED] YOUR DAD IS IN JAIL FOR MARKET MANIPULATION which actually as I tell this to you today these were dropped against him. Any way the news articles were EVERYWHERE everyone knew and i was the laughing stock at school i was called a "jailbird" and got sent this picture about thirty times from random people at school. I couldn't attend school for a month and i was going through dramatic Changes in life. I wasn't able to speak to my best friend for about two weeks and when i did I introduced him to my boyfriend on the phone from prison and that phone call was about 30 seconds long. That's the longest i spoke to him in two weeks and was for 30 seconds.

My siblings and I have been through immense trauma from this whole situation as we did not have our dad around and our mother [REDACTED]

Through all of this the thick and thin my dad has not stop fighting for justice my dad never deserved to go through all of this and be wrongfully convicted. My dad is a warm hearted, generous, sincere, loving father and sibling and son and friend to everyone and no matter what always help people when they in trouble and still continues today. My dad paid for his university by working at a horse polo stable cleaning up horse mess and feeding them hay that is how my dad made money to go into something he was so passionate about. My dad is not guilty he is innocent and I hope you will see this.

My dad would never hurt a fly. Last week 16th October it was my dad's verdict and my father was found guilty the charges as they thought it was his sole intent when really sir my father would never do anything of the sort. [REDACTED]

Today 30 October I wrote my first final exam whilst a few days before i was shocked by the news of my dad and yet again everyone found out.

Sir my dad is not guilty my dad is clever and good at his job and would never do something that would hurt or affect anyone. Me and my family have gone through such pain the last year because of the media and not being around for the biggest mile stones in my life as i finish school he wasn't there at my prom he wasn't there at my 18th birthday he wasn't there at my graduation and he was in court proving his innocence. Dear Mr Liman my dad is a role model and i miss him so much i have not seen my dad since July and before that since April 2022. My father is not what anyone is accusing him of he is innocent. I really hope you take my letter into consideration as he is not the man the prosecutors paint him out to be he is my dad and i am proud. Thank you [REDACTED]

My dad has been my number one supporter throughout my whole life. It is safe to say that he is not only my best friend but also my hero. My dad is a good man, he is the most down-to-earth person i have ever come across and I have not doubted him once since this whole ordeal arose.

I have never met a more devoted, eager and committed person in my whole life. When I first moved to Cape Town my father would visit us once a month, bare in mind this was in the midst of covid. He would Travel half way across the world and had to isolate in various countries for weeks on end not because he had to, but because he wanted to be present in our lives. He taught me to value kinship and appreciate my family.

My dad lost his brother in January 2020. This was the first time i had ever seen him cry and my heart broke into a million pieces seeing the one person i look up to feel so devastated was like a stab to the heart. This made me realise that family is the most important aspect of our lives and we had one life to cherish it. In AUGUST 2022 my dad was arrested and held in prison in Ibiza. Living in london at the time with my younger brother i felt utterly alone. For months we were given no answers, I took my dads advice and clung onto my brother not only to protect him but to protect myself.

Going into school getting teased that my dad was a criminal was one of the hardest things i've ever had to endure. This was not the father who had raised me, my dad is an honest and generous man. And to have him so brutally attacked online and in the media made my blood boil. I had lost my primary source of support, stability and love. I know my father did not die, but the grief i felt certainly felt like i had lost the most important person at the time.

My fondest memory from childhood was when my dad taught my sister and I to ride a bike.

"Dad I'm scared" as he took off my sparkly training wheels.

"Come on [REDACTED] you've got this." He said.

When i am faced with an issue, i always repeat those same words.

I need my dad in my life. No girl should have to grow up without their father. My [REDACTED] brother shouldn't have to grow up without his father. My [REDACTED] sister shouldn't have to grow up without her father.

My dad and I have a deeply connected and strong bond and no matter what I love him. Forever and always.

Lastly i'd like to share a story from my brother. My brother saw my dad being arrested in the middle of the airport in Ibiza. A [REDACTED] boy watching his dad being taken away from him. The police officer promised him that my dad would be back in 2 days. Well, 2 years later my dad has not returned, in the sense that this case has stripped him of his freedom and the one thing he does best, being a father.

Every saturday and sunday my father would watch my brother play football. In the midst of winter, and the peaks of summer. Football was one of the many that my brother and my dad bonded over. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]. He is so envious of his friends that get to go on fishing trips with their dad, kick around the ball on the pitch and so many other things that only a dad and son can do.

Although he can be as attentive on the phone as one could be, he is not here in the present. I mourn over the life I once knew. Where not everything depened on what the judge has to say. But alas, it does.

I hope that whatever the outcome of this case/trial is, you don't look at my dad as some sly fraud, but a man who is devoted to the ones he cares about and truly beingthe best dad in the world.

I've known Neil Phillips since 2017. I joined Glen Point in large part because I wanted to work with the best emerging market trader in the market. That is how Neil was described to me by contacts when I was looking into joining his company, and that is what I saw for the 4+ years while working with him. Before joining I was also told that Neil was intense, demanding, and loyal. To some that might be intimidating, but for me that was the perfect combination to partner with. He worked hard, studied the market tirelessly, and took great pride in putting his investors' money to work in search of quality returns. He was unique, seeing things others didn't in the market, and identifying opportunities in a tricky emerging markets asset class. Banks were often in awe of his trading, and his ability to manage risk, as was I.

Neil wasn't just a great trader; he was also a leader. He did not hide in his office like many senior partners in the financial world. He was front and center every day, setting the tone for the trading floor, and treating every individual, from senior partners to the cleaning staff with the utmost respect. He created a family environment in the office, one that people wanted to show up to each day. He was invested in our futures. Neil saw potential and wanted us to reach it, myself in particular.

I got to know Neil even better during the Covid year of 2020. With us working from home, I spent the entire day engaged with him on Microsoft teams- we lived and breathed the markets together but also life together. It is then that I got to understand even more Neil's greatest quality which is what I admire so much about him, and that is he was a great father, and would do anything for his kids. Even with being involved in markets many hours of the day, Neil always created the time to be there for his kids after school, finding time to be present always. Whether it was taking [REDACTED] to soccer, or helping his daughters with their work, or making them laugh, he was there. They went on fantastic vacations, and Neil always sent me pictures and videos of the great times with his children. Anyone who is a great father always has a high rank from me.

Neil also cared about my family and well-being. He sent my kids Tottenham jerseys, his favorite soccer team. When my kids came into my office and onto the Microsoft Teams video, Neil was always there to say hi to them, ask my daughter [REDACTED] about her latest swim success, and check in on my wife. Neil in my house isn't just "Daddy's boss", he is a great personality and friend as well.

I hope you will consider the great person and father that Neil has been in his time on this earth when considering his sentencing.

Regards

David Coratti

To whom it may concern,

People all over the world have children and the expectation is that parents will always care for them , that is the order of life . Once in a while the order reverses. My husband was a successful GP also had an MRCP from Edinburgh, together we brought up 4 beautiful people but at the end of 4 children at private schools , double degrees etc there wasn't a lot of change . My husband retired in 2000 due to ill health and gradually Neil took over the role of supplementing our income and until 2017 made our lives stress free and full.

We , and then me on my own after my husbands demise travelled backwards and forwards to the UK to visit,saw every show , heard wonderful music , saw beautiful art etc and even had a lifetime dream of a trip to Japan booked, when Covid struck .

Neil saw to it , that we were short of nothing

This boy has only goodness in his heart, and I continue to have faith in him as a human being

He has been an asset to society and G-D willing will continue on this trajectory

Dear Judge Lewis Liman,

My brother Phillip Costa immigrated to London in 2017 as he received an incredible offer to work at the Hedge Fund Glen Point Capital. During his visit to South Africa a few months later, in January 2018, I begun hearing about his unique relationship with his boss Neil Phillips. My brother was so inspired to be learning from a master in financial trading and the markets. I thought o myself wow I hope to find a mentor and boss like that in my own life one day.

It was later that same year in 2018 in September that I witnessed just how special their relationship was. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] and working for a boss like Neil Phillips. The first time I had the opportunity to meet Neil Phillips was in Johannesburg April 2019, when he had decided to fly from London to Johannesburg just to attend my moms memorial. My brother came to sit next to me right before the memorial was to begin in tears and shock. He told me that Neil was here and that he had flown in to be of support to my brother. I was shocked and I immediately asked my brother to point him and the other Glen Point staff who had travelled out to me and I went to say hello and thank them for everything they had done for my brother during this challenging time.

I then immigrated to join my brother in London and got to see how much my brother loved working for Neil Phillips and at Glen Point Capital. He absolutely loved what he was doing. It was in March 2020 when my brother became ill with Covid and on the same day Neils family came to the house and dropped off some food for us. At this stage my brothers and Neils relationship had only grown deeper and it was clear to see how Neil Phillips had become a father figure to my brother. Again during the next few challenging months my brother experienced personally Neil Phillips offered tremendous support and it was decided that my brother would take a break whilst still being paid by Glen Point Capital. Neil Phillips went the extra mile for my brother in trying to help him get back on his feet following the passing of my mother. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] passed on to me and when I needed the most support in my life after loosing the two closest people to me it was Neil Phillips and his family that opened their home to me for 3 months for me to able to find my feet again.

Neil Phillips is a older brother and father figure in my life today and thats why I didn't hesitate to travel to New York in October to offer my full support for the man who had been a father to my brother and now is a older brother and father figure in my life. Neil Phillips is one of the rarest people I have ever met with the biggest heart and a man I have the utmost respect for!

I Mr Ebenezer Olayinka Senior Steward of Methodist Church and Circuit Steward (Property & Finance) New River Circuit of Methodist church North London United Kingdom.

Your honour,

I met Neil around March 2001 when I was a Self-employed as a Licensed cab driver working under the Licensed cab operator Senator cars Ltd N2 London, on that day I was despatched a job to pick a passenger (Neil) going to work at 6am and after that I picked him on a several occasions unexpectedly after the third trip he asked me if I could be picking him every day at 6am acknowledging he prefers me than other drivers. Ever since I have been picking him to work every day 6am Mon-Friday until 2022 when he was indicted.

During that time the relationship between me and him has turned from a passenger to a friend, a truly brother and a family. There is no one in his entire family that I don't know.

With Neil I have experienced an individual with a low profile, good character, polite and respectable manner. In addition Neil is a hardworking and a family-person who has always presented himself with levelheadedness and grace.

Neil is a Pillar to me, to many and to his entire family. He is indeed a Pillar of strength.

I first met Neil at Londolozi game reserve in SA, where I work as a guide in 2016 when he came with his family, he first choice to be in my vehicle from day one and we had such a strong bond and add up calling each others brothers. Very kind and humble that I first saw on Neil.

He came twice afterwards, and the bond continued.

I was suspended from work for failing polygraph test, I did tell him as I knew he was planning to come so not to be surprised for not finding me that.

He's respond to me was" That's not true, how what happened?"

He asked me if I knew anything that I was accused of, and of course no for me.

Neil said.,i'm willing to help you as you are a good man,but only if you are telling true. Which I gave him a go-ahead and he did.

I want to thank Neil today because he helped pay all my legal fees and regain my job back with no pay back to him.

I'm back to my job today because of his kindness.

I will be starving with my family as my dad passed away leaving me as a head of house with around 30 people that I'm looking after

Thanks my Brother

To Whom It May Concern,

By way of introduction, my name is Rosy Ngwai and I am based in Johannesburg, South Africa.

I consider Mr Neil Phillips as a fatherly figure as he stepped up and raised me from a very young age. Mr Phillips provided emotional and financial support from the age of 6 until I completed my secondary education at 18 years old.

He is a compassionate, supportive and loving individual who loves his family dearly and raised me as one of his own. He built an incredible career in South Africa and assisted myself as well as my family financially without expecting anything in return. He is a man of integrity whom I have the utmost respect for. Because of his support and contribution in my life, today at 28 years old, I am a Senior Tax Consultant who can stand on her feet financially and support my mother (who was also financially supported by Mr Phillips). I am grateful for everything he has done for me and my family as I would not be where I am today without his guidance, support and love. I am proud to call him a father and a pillar to lean on since I was a child.

Kind regards,

One of the most defining contributions Neil has made to The Village Shul is his instrumental role in securing our permanent home. His philanthropic generosity was unparalleled, but it was his selfless dedication that truly stood out.

RE: NEIL PHILLIPS

I serve as the rabbi of the Great Park, synagogue and Community Centre in Johannesburg, South Africa.

I have known and been connected to Neil Phillips for decades.

Neil's parents, Dr Bently and Roz Phillips, raised a beautiful family committed to the broad needs of community.

In all my dealings with Neil Phillips, I sensed a generous, altruistic and caring soul.

By way of example, a number of years ago I met a young Zimbabwean woman who has exceptional intelligence. Notwithstanding her phenomenal matriculation results, she was precluded from pursuing a tertiary education in South Africa as she needed a bursary for which she was not eligible, as she is a foreigner. Neil offered to pay for her education at Wits University. I was present at her graduation representing Neil, who had made her dream reality.

On another occasion, Neil responded with generosity to assist a child who has special needs. Neil invested unstintingly to give the child a chance in life.

I have always considered Neil to be a friend as well as a congregant. He has always responded to the needs of others with sensitivity and with a deep devotion to alleviate the suffering of others.

Neil is highly respected for his humility and soft spoken integrity, and for being a valuable responsible member of the community.

I hope, and pray that Neil will be given the opportunity to emerge from the painful experiences of the last two years which have had a huge negative impact on him and on his children. I hope that he will be allowed to plough the pain into valuable life lessons and resume his central place in the midst of his family, and in the life of the community.

Yours sincerely

Subject: TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

To Whom It May Concern

In 2003, shortly after Sir Ronald Harwood won the Oscar for THE PIANIST, I put to him an idea for a documentary film. I asked him if he thought a detailed examination looking at why 99% of those who carried out the murders in the Holocaust were never prosecuted was viable. He said it was a terrific idea and encouraged me to pursue it. Ronnie wrote more about the Shoah than anyone else I have ever met - films, plays, books, newspaper articles, etc. and was considered by many to be a leading expert in what I consider to be the greatest miscarriage of justice in the history of Mankind. I am not Jewish.

I went everywhere looking for money, and absolutely no one would back the film GETTING AWAY WITH MURDER(S). Therefore, in January 2019, I started filming with my own money. This was somewhat foolhardy as I knew my wife and I could not afford the complete budget, even with borrowing money.

Partway through the filming, I met Neil Phillips. He was the first person I met with in all those years who committed significant funding.

For me, it was essential to do a deep dive into what actions the Allies took following the end of hostilities. In August 1945, the London Agreement was signed between the UK, France, the Soviet Union and the USA in order to try the leaders and organisations of Nazi Germany accused of War Crimes, Crimes Against Peace and Crimes Against Humanity.

Following the 1946 completion of the International Military Tribunal, the British, French and Soviets wanted no further trials. To me this seemed a grave mistake. It was left to the American government and, far more importantly, as they are often overlooked in this matter, the American military to conduct 12 Successor Trials.

One of these was the Einsatzgruppen Trial. The chief prosecutor was Benjamin Ferencz, who, at the time I was making the film, was 99 years old and living in Florida. Neil's first contribution towards the film went directly to pay for me and a crew to film a detailed interview with a man I consider to have been one of America's greatest lawyers of all time. Ben died in 2023.

When COVID happened, I found myself with dozens of hours worth of footage, which I had partly edited myself, but I needed someone with skills far greater than mine to work with me. Again, Neil contributed to the film when nobody else would, funding that enabled me to pay for the editor, post-production sound, the composer and musicians, and so many other vital components.

I realised very early on that to cover the almost total lack of justice for the victims of the Holocaust, which I was always incandescent with rage about, would result in a film with a duration far greater than the standard 90 minutes. I finally settled on a fine cut of 175 minutes.

Almost everyone involved in the project and so many people I consulted - cinemas, broadcasters, other filmmakers and distributors, and film festivals- urged me to cut the film in half. Neil Phillips was the only person to support my stance. Therefore, I could go back to all my detractors and say, "But the man with the money agrees with me". I'm sure they still disagreed with me, but from then on, they never voiced it.

I probably would have completed the film without Neil's support, but it would have taken me far longer. I will never know for certain. In the United Kingdom, I released the film in cinemas on the 1st of October 2021. This was 75 years to the very day of the sentencing at the International Military Tribunal in Nuremberg. There was no better time to release GETTING AWAY WITH MURDER(S) than that date. Neil Phillips ensured that this happened.

The film secured the best reviews of my 53-year career. The UK's prestigious Guardian newspaper voted it the No. 1. Documentary of 2021 in the UK, beating the Oscar-winning SUMMER OF SOUL.

That film was one of two films I wished to make regarding the almost total lack of justice for the victims of the Holocaust. Neil Phillips is now working with me on that bookended film.

Best wishes,

Letter of Endorsement – Neil Phillips

This letter serves to confirm that Neil Phillips is well-known to our organisation and plays an active and meaningful role in the South African Jewish community.

The Johannesburg Jewish Helping Hand (Chevrah Kadisha) is the oldest Jewish organisation in Johannesburg - having been founded in 1888 - and the largest Jewish welfare organisation on the African continent. Our annual budget is currently R335m, of which R248m must be fundraised through the generosity of community donors.

The organisation runs a number of residential institutions serving close to 1,000 residents. Aged people in Sandringham Gardens; children in need of protection from abuse and/or neglect at Arcadia; people with intellectual and physical disabilities at Selwyn Segal; and people with mental illnesses at the Lodge and Square; live, and are cared for, in these facilities. The vast majority are unable to afford residential fees and are fully or partially supported by us.

In addition, the Johannesburg Jewish Helping Hand assists over 9,000 Jewish people in the community with accommodation, food, healthcare, psycho-social services, educational support for their children and burial.

In 2015 our Arcadia Youth and Childcare Centre was rebuilt with Neil playing a major role by providing both financial and emotional support.

Our donors are our lifeline as we are a lifeline to those in need of our help. Neil Phillips is a valued donor and supporter. We are deeply grateful to Neil for his generosity and commitment. It is due to the kindness of people like Neil that we are able to continue the life-sustaining work we do.

Yours sincerely

To Whom it may concern,

I write to you to as the Executive Director of the King David Schools Foundation with respect to Neil Phillips who I have known for several decades.

The King David Schools' Foundation is the fundraising arm of King David Schools, the largest Jewish day school network in the Southern Hemisphere known for its rich Jewish values, academic excellence, and proud ethos of not turning a child away for financial reasons. There are currently 500 students in need of financial assistance creating an annual subsidy budget of almost R40million (US$2.3m).

Neil attended King David School from 1975 - 1987 during which time he excelled in his studies and on the sports field. He has expressed his gratitude for his education through his generosity to the Foundation. Neil's sensitivity and commitment to those in need is a trademark characteristic of his. He is proactive in his efforts to assist the disadvantaged and there are many students who owe their education to his generosity.

For this reason, I can attest to Neil's sensitive character and generous contribution to our community.

Yours sincerely,

Raelene Tradonsky
Executive Director

May God's peace, mercy, and blessings be upon you. With this we begin the conversation, and there is nothing better than peace, the key to happy coexistence

Now, I am Mr. Tamourt Mohamed Akli, an Algerian national, and this is my story and my small experience with my best friend, whom I consider to be a brother, and whose name is Neil Murray . I met him for the first time in prison in Spain after I was there on charges of illegal immigration to Spanish territory, and what prompted me to emigrate is I have a family and a young daughter who is three years old. She was sick and needed surgery. I could not provide enough money for this operation, so I had to emigrate in order to save some money to do the surgery. As fate would have it, I went to prison and Neil was there. Over time, we became friends, and when he learned my story, he helped me. With financial assistance for my daughter and my family from inside the prison, without me asking him for it, and thanks to him, my daughter was able to walk the first steps on her legs after she was in a state of paralysis. He made me feel as if I was alive again after I had felt like I was dead. This person revived a soul, and whoever revives a soul is as if he revived all people. He did not ask me for anything in return. Rather, he told me that God provides His servant from His servant, and he did not stop there. Immediately after his release from prison, he paid me a lawyer and let me out because he knew that I was innocent. He promised me that he would never abandon me, and he kept his word. Even now, he is in distress checking on me. He sends me financial aid, which made me believe that this person is an angel on earth. Just as he did to me, he has done to many people, and what is happening to him is not fair at all. I am a simple person and I cannot help him, but I am writing this letter from the depths of my heart, perhaps it will be the key to his distress, and this is my testimony, by God. As I say, martyr and peace be upon every person who reads this message
